What are industry clusters? Why are they important?

Industry Clusters are groups of competing, collaborating, and interdependent businesses working in a common industry and concentrated in the Fresno County region. In collaboration with attraction of new businesses as well as business expansion and retention of existing businesses, the EDC Industry Clusters create a synergetic environment to strengthen and grow organizations by tackling common industry issues. Clusters collaborate within themselves, across clusters, and with public partners in order to develop creative solutions to complex challenges.

Current Cluster Focus

Each EDC Industry Cluster has identified specific areas of focus. Check out some of the unique initiatives in progress right now!

What are you interested in supporting?

- ◆ Inventorying and promoting new, stimulus-funded and other, green training programs
- ◆ Centralizing 'Construction Community' support programs in order to leverage resources
- ◆ Creating a Logistics & Distribution Industry publication that will market Fresno County assets
- ◆ Maximizing cost savings by implementing methods of energy efficiency and renewable energy
- ◆ Supporting Central California Society for Information Management

Other Partner Clusters

The 12 Industry Clusters are managed in partnership with vital community organizations, including the Regional Jobs Initiative. Besides the Industry Clusters above, the other clusters include:

- ◆ Arts & Culture
- ◆ Food Processing/Ag Growers
- ◆ Healthcare
- ◆ Public Sector
- ◆ Software Development
- ◆ Tourism
- ◆ Water Technology
